- Wash your nappies a few times prior to use to increase the absorbency of the towelling. NB. Bamboozles need 10 washes to get them to full absorbency but if you really can't wait, you can use them after a couple of washes.
- No need to soak your nappies prior to washing. Modern powders will get them clean anyway.
- Wash your nappies/covers at 40 or 60 depending on the wash care label in non-bio (2 tablespoons is enough to get your nappies clean) – use a laundry mesh for added convenience.
- Don't use fabric softeners as this leaves a residue and decreases the absorbency of the towelling.
- Don't use bleach or other harsh stain removers, as they will shorten the lifespan of your nappies and will void your guarantee.
- You can tumble dry the nappies on a cool setting if needed but we recommend line drying wherever possible.
